SAINT OF THE WEEK

ST JOHN HENRY NEWMAN (1801-11th August 1890)

John Henry Newman was born in London. He received a good education, and he read widely, studying at Oxford, and eventually becoming a fellow of Oriel College in 1822. In 1825, he was ordained an Anglican priest, ministering in Oxford. He became well-known for his sermons and hymns. With others, Newman began the Oxford Movement as response to liberalisation in the Church of England. His desire to root Christian practice in something stable, led him to the Church Fathers, and eventually the Catholic Church. Newman gave up his work in Oxford and retired to Littlemore, where on 9th October 1845 he was received into the Catholic Church. He became an Oratorian priest, wrote widely on subjects such as faith and education, and ministered to the poor in Birmingham, where he lived. He was made a cardinal in 1879. Newman's theological thought helped the groundwork for twentieth-century Catholic theology, especially Vatican II. He died on 11th August 1890.
